

Terms & Conditions

Introduction

These Terms & Conditions ("Terms") govern your use of hoganconstruction.ca and any quote, estimate, or service request submitted through it. By using this site, you agree to these Terms.

1. Services Described

Information on this website — including pricing ranges, material descriptions, and project timelines — is provided for general guidance only. Final scope, pricing, and timelines are confirmed in a written estimate or signed contract prior to any work beginning.

2. Quotes and Estimates

Quotes requested through this site are free and non-binding until confirmed in writing by both parties. Estimates are based on information and site conditions available at the time and may be revised after an in-person assessment.

3. Website Use

You agree not to use this site to submit false information, attempt unauthorized access to our systems, or interfere with site functionality. Content on this site — including text, images, and project photos — is owned by Hogan Construction and may not be reproduced without permission.

4. Limitation of Liability

To the extent permitted by law, Hogan Construction is not liable for indirect, incidental, or consequential damages arising from use of this website. This does not limit liability arising under a separately signed construction contract.

5. Workmanship Warranty

Any warranty on completed work is governed exclusively by the terms stated in your signed service agreement, not by this website.

6. Governing Law

These Terms are governed by the laws of the Province of Alberta and applicable federal laws of Canada.

7. Changes to These Terms

We may update these Terms at any time. Continued use of the site after changes constitutes acceptance of the revised Terms.
